DATA SUMMARIES

(S/NF/SG/LIMDIS) Following are the unprompted perceived highlights from Source B that were generated during an operational session.

- (S/NF/SG/LIMDIS) Source B:

-- There will be a natural catastrophe or a similar event of seemingly planetary magnitude hit a major West Coast city; maybe L.A. It is as if a hugh section of terrain is picked up and then suddenly dropped like a gigantic pie.

-- There is an object which looks like a giant cylinder on fire poking a hole through space.

-- Something can be seen splitting open, like a giant ripe fruit.

-- I see/sense a lot of bullets flying around after a tilting motion occurs.

-- I see a lot of fires. Large sections of area appear as a wasteland from fires. The sky is a surrealistic color; almost as if the sky itself is on fire. There are waves of oscillating color and streaks. It appears as if a wall of fiery color is sweeping across a section of terrain.

-- I see a hole being punched through a large object or section of earth as if someone taking a wooden stick and poking it up through the bottom of a pie or cake with the stick protruding out of the top.
